CPI's Baja Manufacturing Tour - Welcoming Remarks and Educational Forum

“With so many changes in manufacturing and global trade, staying on top of supply chain opportunities is a must for any manufacturer. CPI's goal with our Baja Manufacturing Tours is to take attendees from the conceptual to reality. We give them ample time with decision makers at world-class manufacturing facilities and a chance to walk plant floors, all offering US manufacturers real-world insights to their questions about how to get started in Mexico,” said Denisse Martinez, tour coordinator and Director of Marketing for CPI.

It was an eye-opening experience for us to see and observe these world class operations, and also help us start to understand the options and cost benefit of setting up operations there”

Han Sun, furniture manufacturer and past tour attendee

The Baja Manufacturing Tour on April 23rd is part of CPI's education initiatives available to manufacturers this spring. Tours are no-cost and include transportation to and from San Diego, visits to high-tech manufacturing facilities and a delightful dinner in Tecate featuring BajaMed cuisine and award-winning regional wines. This unique opportunity allows attendees to talk with successful Mexico manufacturing operators about their experiences.

“I cannot recommend taking part in one of CPI's tours more highly for anyone interested in being more involved in the growing Baja California Norte manufacturing community. The team at CPI has the experience, the tools and the professional gravitas for everyone from a start-up to an established Fortune 400 company,” remarked a past tour attendee and the Project Director of the largest independent custom product and packaging solutions provider in the United States.

Adding to list of benefits of manufacturing in Mexico, the U.S. Department of Commerce reported that Mexico is now the U.S.'s largest trading partner, surpassing China and Canada. Thousands of world-class global manufacturers in Mexico exported $358.13 billion worth of goods to the United States in 2019, showing that even in times of trade uncertainty that Mexico and manufacturing doesn't slow down.

"The Baja Manufacturing Tour was so well planned and executed. We felt a warm welcome from CPI's team and the companies we visited. It was an eye-opening experience for us to see and observe these world class operations, and also help us start to understand the options and cost benefit of setting up operations there," said Han Sun, a furniture manufacturer and past tour attendee.
