LONDON, GREATER LONDON, UK, February 19, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The global household fans market is expected to grow at a rate of about 3.93% and reach $7.7 billion by 2023. Increased electrification especially in rural areas has contributed to the growth of the household fans market in the historic period. However, increased tariffs on raw materials such as steel and aluminum restrained the market for household fans.

The household fans manufacturing market consists of sales of household electric fans including ceiling fans, table fans, pedestal fans, exhaust fans and wall fans.
