Kyle J. Baron, Managing Partner at BCW Group is inspired by what the Ternio team has accomplished. "As a strategy firm, we specialise in creating frictionless paths for consumers to convert fiat to crypto. BlockCard™ takes this vision another step forward by offering a customer-centric, hassle-free purchasing experience utilising virtual & physical debit cards; allowing customers to use their digital assets for purchasing everyday items with any merchant where major credit cards are accepted."

"BlockCard has always been designed to be a global payments solution," said Ian Kane, co-founder of Ternio. "As we expand BlockCard outside of the United States, we want to ensure a seamless on-boarding process for our international clientele. BCW has demonstrated an unparalleled amount of knowledge and professionalism in this space, making them the go-to choice as Ternio grows."

About BCW Group:

We are a strategy consulting firm focused on designing and executing growth strategies for digital payments, digital assets & distributed ledger technologies initiatives. Our unique footprint cuts across both geographical and industrial plains as our core team sits across Asia's-fastest growing market for both digital assets & digital payments-and is adept to implement a culmination of traditional and emerging technology provisions to build the infrastructure necessary for the digital economy.
