

Little River's Must-See Open-Air Art Exhibit

30+ Local and International Street Artists Infused Miami's Infamous 79th Street with Bright Murals

MIAMI, FLA, UNITED STATES, February 23, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- What happens when a prominent Miami street artist opens an art gallery? Magic. Absolute magic. David Lavernia, also known as DaveL, and his business partner Federico Bertele, opened Archive 79 in November of 2019. Originally, the gallery started as just a vision. David and Federico imagined a space where creatives could come together, get inspired, and showcase their work. The innovative entrepreneurs ended up converging their crafts and Archive 79 was born.

Art Basel is undoubtedly one of the world's biggest weeks in art and this year a large group of local and international artists were missing from the typical scene. Instead, they were all in Little River bringing David and Federico's collaborative art space to life. Over 30 artists got space on Archive 79's exterior walls, transforming the gallery into an open-air art exhibit. The murals are bold, yet tropical, and every inch seamlessly blends together. (Address: 170 NE 79th Street, Miami, FL 33138.)
