IAN'S Auto Service Offers "Dealer-Quality Parts and Service" at the Lowest "Independent Auto Service" Prices

BROKEN ARROW, OKLAHOMA, UNITED STATES, February 27, 2020

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Most vehicle owners face a terrible quandary: once their new-car warranty expires, they can continue to obtain quality parts and service from their local dealer at unaffordable "solid gold" prices, or they can opt for lower-priced service from independent repair shops that generally employ less-well-trained mechanics who may not know their car all that well, and who often install questionable after-market or second-quality parts.

But vehicle owners in the Broken Arrow, Coweta, and the greater Tulsa metropolitan area now have a much better option: they can take their car or truck to IAN'S Auto Service, where factory-trained Honda Master technicians install only genuine "original equipment manufacturer" (OEM) parts and perform service to full factory specifications on Honda, Acura, Toyota, Lexus, Nissan, and Subaru vehicles.

With their considerable investment in newly added equipment, IAN'S Auto Service can now diagnose and repair your vehicle faster and at a lower cost than ever before. Most repairs can be completed the same day you bring your vehicle in for service.

Families, soccer moms, and parents with teenage drivers can now rely on IAN'S Auto Service for fast, high-quality repairs and routine service that won't put a dent in their budgets and because the work is always performed at factory level specifications will keep their vehicles running safely and efficiently for many years to come.

Solving the Vehicle-Owner's Other Big Problem

In addition to providing factory-level service using OEM parts and fluids at extremely affordable prices, IAN'S Auto Service solves the second biggest problem that vehicle owners face: the inconvenience and hassle of discovering that a repair shop's first try at fixing the problem wasn't good enough, requiring another round of repairs and additional repair costs.

If you're looking for auto repair in Broken Arrow, IAN'S Auto Service gets your vehicle fixed right fully and completely the first time, and every time.
