5miles' new reward program allows its users to make money

DALLAS, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, February 28, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 5miles App is a peer-to-peer marketplace for buying and selling everything from secondhand goods to local services. Getting popular after sponsoring Dallas Mavericks last year and launching a series of fun features, 5miles now offers users an easy way to make money — instantly — by earning coins that have a real dollar value.

According to the 5miles team, anyone can simply log in to the 5miles app and will be on his way to earning 1,000 coins redeemable for cash.

How does it work? Users can earn coins by regularly browsing 5miles listings and even more by completing tasks such as:

1. inviting friends to use the 5miles app
2. listing things that they own and want to sell on the 5miles marketplace
3. taking surveys or trying out an app

As the 5miles app digs a bit further about the users' experience and feedback, this campaign has got some positive reviews. 5miles users have something to say about this coin program.

Cindy D., a new 5miles user (since May 2019), said that she already has earned $50 Amazon card by inviting her friends to join 5miles and listing items on our marketplace. “Like a game, this is an easy, even entertaining way to earn money on the side. I already have told many of my friends about it, and three of them have signed up using my invite link. They’ve started making money themselves; how cool is that?!” Cindy wrote in her review.

It’s a fun way to earn a bit of money every day, just by checking in on 5miles and browsing the listings. I love this app.”

Juan C

Juan C., who has been using 5miles for nearly four years, started taking part in our coin program in November 2019.

Already he has earned a $5 Amazon gift card. “It’s a fun way to earn a bit of money every day, just by checking in on 5miles and browsing the listings. I love this app,” Juan said.

A total of more than 800,000 users have received rewards on the 5miles app.
