Elevating demand for APIs to develop smarter applications in functioning of different industries are some of the factors boosting cognitive services market.

NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, March 16, 2020

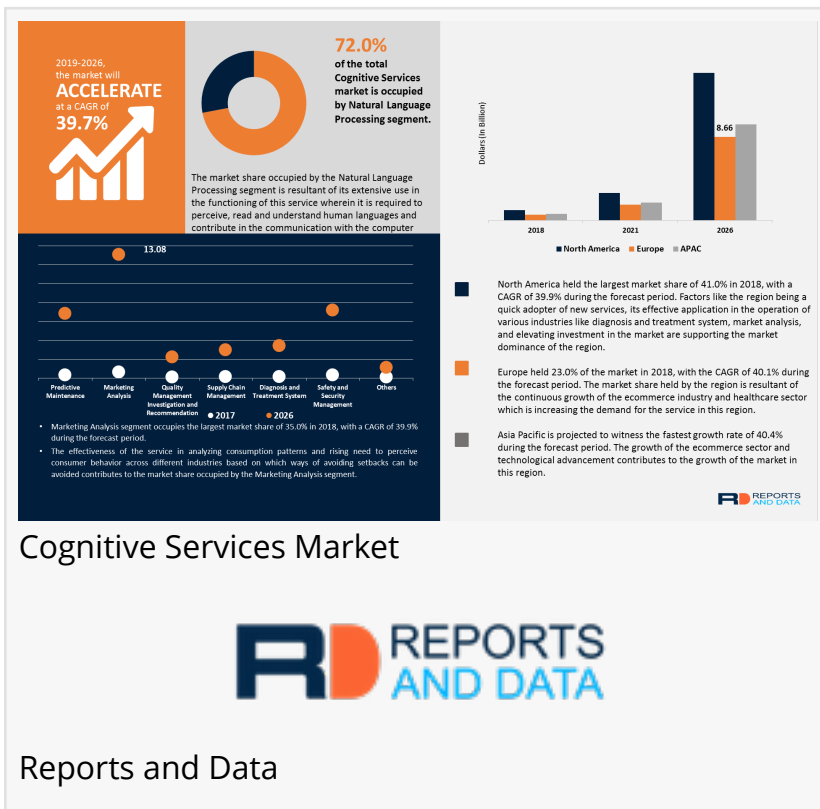

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The global cognitive services market is forecast to reach USD 36.85 Billion by 2026, according to a new report by Reports and Data. Cognitive services can be considered as a part of artificial intelligence [AI] platform. One of the mentionable benefits associated with the service is the effective application of AI to various scenarios with a comprehensive portfolio of domain-specific AI capabilities. Most importantly, the service is useful in making faster and smarter decisions, helping organizations to lead the market competition. It is with the help of an anomaly detector; potential issues may be detected on a prior hand, based on which strategic decisions can be taken to avoid the problem.

Thus, the presence of these benefits are supporting the growth of the market. In context to region, Europe can be seen to occupy a prominent market position. The market position held by the region is resultant of the continuous growth of the eCommerce industry and healthcare sector.
