

DXM Joins BCW Group Network to Offer Korean Custody Services Globally

Digital Asset Custody Solutions Channel Partnership

HONG KONG, March 19, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DXM, fintech services arm of Upbit (Korea's leading digital asset exchange), has selected BCW Group as a channel partner to help expand its global reach.

BCW will add DXM's diverse service portfolio to its business development operations around the world.

Oojin Mudgett, Head of Korea for BCW Group, sees the partnership as indicative of the evolution of Korea's digital asset industry. "As a strategy firm, we look to enable best-in-class service providers on a global scale. DXM brings enterprise grade financial technology to this dynamic space. With the ability to custody KLAY, the digital token of dominant messaging app Kakao, DXM is solidifying Korea's place as a leader in applied DLT."

"We are pleased to have BCW Group as our custody partner given their extensive network both overseas and in Korea," said Eric Yoo, Chief Strategy Officer for DXM. "We are expecting the partnership to enhance the accessibility of DXM's custody service."

About DXM:

A subsidiary of Upbit parent company Dunamu, DXM provides several financial services utilising digital asset technology including wallets, escrow, decentralised finance (DeFi) protocol development, asset staking and over-the-counter (OTC) trade facilitation. DXM developed and operates custody service Upbit Safe, and recently integrated Ledger Vault technology into its offering.
