

WD-HAN – Creating in a COVID World

Coming March 27 as Song Two in WD-HAN's 2020 Spring Quartet, Shiver continues to lay the foundation for building inner strength.

TAMPA BAY, FL, UNITED STATES, March 23, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Coming March 27 as Song Two in WD-HAN's 2020 Spring Quartet, "Shiver" continues to lay the foundation for building inner strength.

In this challenging month, when the world is balanced between intimacy and distance, "Shiver" brings you another lesson in the book of people: Some people scratch fingernails on the blackboard of your soul. WD-HAN takes a haunting, spooky look at those who defy all understanding, and shrugs them off as irrelevant. Those who would weaken you mean nothing.

This amazing song takes all the sting out of betrayal, bringing you relief and new life. It uses specific musical techniques to accomplish this, not the least of which is Cal Henry's guitar interlude from about 2:30 to 2:50. Those twenty seconds are worth the price of admission all by themselves.

Shiver Album Art

WD-HAN have captured the 'fun' of rock n' roll, combined it with a passion for the blues and the result is a song that the reader should play very loudly, and multiple times over.”

Marnie Burt

Timely and timeless, "Shiver" relieves the tensions others try to lay on you, allowing you to face whatever comes.

"With the high-octane ingenuity WD-HAN pours into their tracks, they're far from a dusty revival band. Their sound is tensile, dynamic, and they are more than efficacious when it comes to sharing that infectious Jim Jones-style furore through their records." - Amelia Vandergast, A&R Factory Blog
