

Award Winning Inventor Andrea Rose Supports Inventors & Entrepreneurs During COVID-19 Crisis With Free Virtual Workshops

NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, March 31, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Award-winning inventor, entrepreneur, and consultant Andrea Rose has taken her free, live workshops held periodically in Manhattan, at Microsoft, to virtual, weekly workshops for inventors and entrepreneurs. Andrea believes, "During these difficult and challenging times facing all of us with the Covid-19 virus, there is also an opportunity to improve ourselves; we just need to focus on learning and achieving rather than on our fears and anxieties. My hope in providing remote workshops is that those inventors and entrepreneurs with a dream will take this time to learn how to turn it into a reality".

"The Inventors Road Show™" workshop series was founded on Andrea's belief that, "Anyone can have an innovation and an idea for an invention. What they need are the tools to help them navigate the difficult and daunting task of turning their ideas into an asset and marketable success."

These workshops are conducted throughout the year in New York City, Philadelphia, and South Florida, primarily in Microsoft locations.
