

Goldjournal.com Proudly Announces The "Gold Guide for 2020"

Market volatility making nervous investors turn into gold, and there's already a big shortage on gold bars.

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, April 2, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Gold Journal, one of America's most prolific prognosticators of investment and economic direction, is announcing the release of a very informative and useful "Gold Guide for 2020". Gold Journal's Blog has a history of displaying an uncanny knack for identifying critical investment and economic factors and trends that can be utilized by savvy investors to shorten research time, incorporate into existing strategies, and improve investment results. Gold Journal is not registered or licensed by any government agencies and are not financial or tax advisors, but information provided is free and can be extremely useful in capable hands. Physical gold and other precious metals offer true diversification and solid protection to any portfolio. While other investments may falter, gold and other precious metals offer the comfort and security of physical possession, immediate accessibility, universal recognition, intrinsic value and ease of liquidity worldwide.

Due to ongoing domestic and global political consternation, the Russian and Saudi oil price war and increasing concern for recession due to the Coronavirus pandemic, market volatility is expected to continue and the potential for even greater market losses cannot be discounted. Many experienced investors are asking if the typical 5% - 15% of physical precious metal holdings is enough, particularly in light of a lull in gold and silver production.
