

'Love in the Age of Quarantine' — A Benefit Song feat. Singers and Rappers from Around the Country and Around the World

'Love in the Age of Quarantine' is a benefit song/music video of hope, joy and unity for these troubled times.

SEATTLE, WA, UNITED STATES, April 10, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 'Love in the Age of Quarantine' is a benefit song/music video of hope, joy and unity for these troubled times. Like the 80s anthem 'We Are the World,' this song promises to connect people around the planet with the healing power of music.

Written and produced by Electron Love Theory, 'Love in the Age of Quarantine' features more than 25 singers, rappers, artists, kids and ASL users from around the country and around the world. With the chorus sung in nine different languages, this song aims to drive donations to various charities, including MusiCares, Feeding America, and Doctors Without Borders.

'Love in the Age of Quarantine' was written and produced by Electron Love Theory in Seattle, WA, between March 14-April 3, 2020—with sound and video files from New York, Nashville, Sweden, Italy, Germany, South Africa, Canada and elsewhere.

Featured singers from around the country and around the world.
