EMERGENCY LINEN AND LAUNDRY SERVICE

As a business owner, worrying about how employees look is one hassle that is not needed. Dealing with the larger commercial laundry services can also be a hassle – difficult billing, bad customer service. They don't tend to do rapid, "emergency" linen and "emergency" commercial linen services. But, businesses such as New York City hospitals or medical offices don't need any more hassles. That's where Stamford Uniform and Linen comes in. Here are the steps to a successful engagement.

First, the company's commercial laundry specialist will meet with the entity, one-on-one to discuss its emergency laundry needs. Second, the company specialist will create an estimate on services needed. What will be done, when, where, and how. Third, if engagement is set to begin, the company will begin service immediately. It is known that beginning service is immediate.
