Canada 2020 Civility Icon of the Year; Ambassador Dr. Raymond Harlall believes 'Civil Entrepreneurship' is the only way forward after COVID-19

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, April 29, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Raymond Harlan, was the Recipient of the Canada 2020 Civility Icon of the year and 2020 Productive Business Civility Awards

Productive Business Civility Honored its 2020 Productive Business Civility Award Recipients on Thursday April 23rd, 2020. which included World leaders from 7 different countries. These are leaders of a new paradigm that have brought productivity and civility together. However because of the coronavirus, the awards ceremony had to be cancelled and was brought to social media.

Dr. Harlall believes civility is needed now more than ever during this pandemic. Many business and institutions are struggling to keep up with the health and economic crisis caused by COVID-19 and its global lockdown requirements. However, Ambassador Raymond Harlall believes that entrepreneurs who have civility as their core values will be able to lead their communities, regions and countries to prosperity and peace.

Through his Global Initiative call "I Empower Entrepreneurs" he help youths, around the world, to identify their strong skills and work with them to position, package and promote their local assets in the best way to sustain themselves and contribute to one or more of the United Nations 17 Sustainable Development Goals.

In Canada, Dr. Raymond Harlall owns and operates a Publishing, Branding and Marketing company for the past 3 years —Local Experts Group. Over 70 authors has worked closely with Dr. Harlall to write, publish and promote their books through his Canadian company and its subsidiaries: The Canada Book Club and The Power of Collaboration Events. These content driven book and training materials are being used by students around the world today.

Working with "I Change Nations" and its founder Ambassador Dr. Clyde Rivers, Dr. Harlall is able to introduce subject matter experts to a new paradigm. This paradigm has been the missing ingredient, as opposed to usual race (competition) to the top, it's about the culture of honour and civility. As the world is in discourse now world leaders are search for new solutions. —

World Civility.

Dr. Rivers is the Global Spokesman for World Civility, a representative to the United Nations, a Diplomat for 15 years and heads the World Largest Culture of Honour community. He has worked with 20+ heads of states and has traveled to over 80 nations.

“Our work is based on the Golden Rule... the God Rule: Treat others the same way you would like to be treated. Simply put we are here to be the voice of those who do have one. Specifically, we aim to eradicate poverty, end hunger, bridge the economic inequalities gap, promote gender equality and most importantly, being environmentally friendly as we continue to work towards a better tomorrow.” — Ambassador Dr. Clyde Rivers.

When asked about Dr. Harlall and why he was awarded the Canada Icon of the Year 2020 on World Civility Day, Dr. Rivers said:

“I see Ambassador Harlall as the bridge, being able to connect the older generation with the younger generation and also the new with the old. It was not just about his adaptability but also his work ethics and his personal values coupled with track record of excellence in serving humanity. This is why I Change Nations and the Founders of World Civility Day has chosen to honour Dr. Harlall as the top Canadian of 2020.”

I am honored to be able to work along side such amazing people, who are changing the world and creating a culture of honor and civility. Each one is an icon and a difference maker.”

The difference is: in my early 20s I believed the only purpose of my business was to earn money and so I made a lot of money. Then in my late 20s I realized that I needed to do more to contribute to humanity and that life is not just about making money.

It's is easy to see now why Ambassador Dr. Raymond Harlall is considered “The Global Developer of Human Currency.” As published in the ‘Who’s Who Guyana 2020 Edition.’

When asked what is ‘Civil Entrepreneurship’ and why its is so necessary, Raymond responded with his story: As a Millennial Entrepreneur for the past 10 + year I have transitioned from a Business Entrepreneur to a Social Entrepreneur and today I consider myself a Civility Entrepreneur.

The difference is: in my early 20s I believed the only purpose of my business was to earn money and so I made a lot of money. Then in my late 20s I realized that I needed to do more to contribute to humanity and that life is not just about making money.

Today, I operate my business on the Zig Ziglar concept that: “you can have everything in life you want, if you will just help enough other people get what they want.”

As a Civil Entrepreneur, the first criteria is to make sure the venture is for the benefit of all of humanity. Yes, you must make money but more importantly it must be in a way where others are also benefiting and in a sustainable way.

As a coach and consultant, the first think I do is to ensuring that my clients and business partners connect their business venture to one or more of the 17 United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) — agenda 2030.

Currently, through a Public-Private Partnership (SGD #17) Dr. Harlall is working with the Government of Guyana, Agriculture Departments, the University of Guyana, Investors, Farmers and Students on his project to plant 1,000,000 coconut trees in his home country over the next decade.

This single initiative, will help to end poverty, bridge the income inequality gap and most importantly remove carbon emissions equivalent to 10,000 cars driving on the roads per year.

Other existing and future Civil Entrepreneurial ventures of Dr. Harlall includes partnerships in India, Uganda, Kenya, Nigeria, Ghana, Burundi, and Malawi. Where sewing machines and training will be made available to unemployed and under-employed females. His “one sewing machine per house hold in at risk community” program is moving from a charity mindset to an entrepreneurial, self-sustained business venture.

His company is the First and only company to offer FARMERS INSURANCE and MICRO LOANS for Guyanese Farmers, this added protection to the agriculture sector will allow farmers to invest more and collectively bargaining for larger export markets while combatting climate change.

Dr. Harlall states, “ I am very excited and grateful to receive the 2020 Productive Business Civility Award and to join with other great business civility leaders that are changing the way business is done around the world.”
