One of the major reasons for the increased use of sex toys is increasing awareness and changing perception among users. A large variety of sex toys are available in the market, which include luxury love devices, romantic toys, and kinky play toys. Several companies are introducing products in keeping with the growing popularity of concepts such as bondage, discipline, sadism, and masochism (BDSM). Similarly, many manufacturers are designing innovative sex toys such as those that can be worn internally.

The growing acceptance of sex toys, where they are no longer considered taboos, has enabled many couples to enhance their sexual lives with the use of sex toys such as vibrators. Furthermore, the presence of specialty sex toy stores and online channels such as Amazon.com, Inc., are enabling people to purchase products with ease. Thus, the increasing acceptance of sex toys as well as continuous product innovations by vendors have increased the popularity of sex toys. The analysts have predicted that the sex toys market will register a CAGR of about 7% by 2024.
