

Allentown Charter School Moving Classes Online for Remainder of 2019-2020 School Year

EEACS in Allentown has moved classes online for grades K through 12 to help them stay engaged while out of the classroom.

ALLENTOWN, PA, UNITED STATES, May 12, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- To help keep students engaged even while out of the classroom, Executive Education Academy Charter School in Allentown has commenced a digital learning continuity plan that requires students to log in to Google

Classroom for 30-minute lessons in all major subjects. Homeroom teachers take attendance with daily activities. Meanwhile, teachers can provide virtual instruction and study help over Zoom.

Students in elementary, middle, and high school are expected to participate in the online courses Monday through Friday for three to four hours per day. Students without access to technology will be able to borrow laptop and iPads from the school

"We understand this is a learning curve for students, parents, and faculty," says Robert Lysek, founder and CEO of the Allentown Charter School. "We are so appreciative of the hard work that everyone has put into these efforts."

School counseling services have also been moved online to help students with this new transition.
