Deal With Covid19 Using American Green's (OTC: $ERBB) Smart Vending Kiosks to Complete Store Purchases without Onsite Human Interaction

(Investorideas.com newswire) – American Green (ERBB:OTC) announced that one of its best AGM Vending Machine Kiosk customers has used the company's technology to keep employees and customers safe by eliminating all contact with fellow customers/employees while completing a transaction at stores.

Earthly Mist, like most companies in the retail sector, found itself in a situation when Covid19 hit of having to close its stores unless it found a way to continue to serve its clients without risking the health of its employees/customers. Store management came up with a solution to re-deploy their American Green AGM kiosks to carry out a complete transaction without any human interaction whatsoever.

According to Earthly Mist Manager, Danelle Pierce, "Customer and employee safety was our #1 priority. We've used the AGM – American Green Merchandisers - as a way to offer contactless purchases that are compliant within our Covid-19 environment. American Green's AGM has been great for our clients that still need to complete purchases, but who are concerned about interacting with the public. By making our products available day and night, essential workers still in the workforce no longer need to rush in before our stores close. We've informed our clients that even through forced shutdowns due to government restrictions, our popular products will remain available to them to purchase any time of the day or night. Our contact-free solution has greatly relieved consumer anxiety and allowed us to continue to offer access to our products during these uncertain times."

According to Lindel Creed, American Green's head of American Green's AGM Division, "Earthly Mist was forced to become very creative in their business thinking and has put today's technology to optimum use in keeping their business and client base stress free. Using high-tech security cameras and two-way communication with customers arriving at the store, coupled with American Green's proprietary AGM - American Green Merchandiser - Earthly Mist can continue to securely dispense its quality products to customers using the kind of ingenuity that has made American the great country that it is."

When visiting Earthly Mist Facebook page you can see a flyer made about a possible temporary closure; however the website and Automatic Dispensing AGM Machines will remain available day and night.

In other news, American Green plans to open up 10 additional major markets to vending operators wishing to sell American Green's CBD line of American-made CBD products. In addition to the AGM smart vending kiosk, the company is also a leading online supplier of America-made, high quality CBD products which it plans to "marry" to its state-of-the-art AGM machines. For a sampling of American Green's high quality product offerings, simply click on the company's online store. If you are an experienced vending machine operator serving a major market and wish to add a complete CBD products to your existing route, you should contact Mr. Lindel Creed at American Green's AGM Division located in Gastonia, North Carolina by writing lindel@americangreen.com or calling Mr. Creed on his direct line at 704-718-3158.
