

Older Writers Recognized in Ageless Authors Writing Contest, Urged to Write on 'Coping With Crisis'

Out of Hundreds of Submissions by Over-65 Writers, Outstanding Essays, Short Stories, Poetry Emerge

DALLAS, TX, UNITED STATES, May 19, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Elderly writers and poets from across the country are being honored as prize winners in the international Ageless Authors Writing Contest.

Playwright and screenwriter Jean Yeager of Rutland, Vermont took first prize in the fiction prose category. Second prize was won by Cathy Raphael of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Writing keeps the mind sharp as you age, and reading helps too.

Third prize was a three-way tie among university professor Alan Balter of Northbrook, Illinois, R.F. Marazas of Belvidere, New Jersey and journalist Donna Reed of Champaign, Illinois.

"

The winners represent a breadth of talent among writers age 65 and older." Executive Director Larry Upshaw In nonfiction prose, retired literature professor Michael Riordan of Arlington, Texas won first prize. Second prize was a tie between military writer Robert Robeson of Lincoln, Nebraska and celebrated poet Diana Woodcock of Midlothian, Virginia. Third prize was also a tie between award-winning artist and writer BetteLou Tobin of Phoenix, Arizona and painter and writer Marguerite McDole of McKinney, Texas.

Gordon Smith, a retired public school science teacher from Hot Springs, Arkansas, won first prize in poetry. Second prize was taken by professor emerita Joyce Thomas of Castleton, Vermont and third prize was won by aspiring novelist Marilyn Mathis of Dallas, Texas. "Our submissions come from writers all over the world," says Larry Upshaw, Executive Director of Ageless Authors. "The winners usually come from all over the United States and Canada. They are the best from hundreds of submissions, and represent an amazing breadth of talent among writers age 65 and older."

The theme of this contest was Short ... Everything -- short fiction and nonfiction of 1,000 words or less and poetry that's unlimited in length. A cadre of volunteer judges from around the world, including writers, poets, editors, educators and professional people, reviewed and evaluated the entries.

Prize winners receive cash awards along with certificates of distinction. Those recognized here are eligible for publishing in an anthology to be released next year. The group also honored finalists and honorable mention winners in results published at AgelessAuthors.com.

Ageless Authors is now conducting a writing contest under the timely theme, "Coping With Crisis." This contest, which includes fiction, nonfiction and poetry, presents senior writers age 50 and older with the opportunity to apply their creativity to the pandemic and other crises. Winners will split a pot of almost $3,000. Entries are $20 each and are being accepted through July 31. For more information, go to AgelessAuthors.com/current-contests/.

AGELESS AUTHORS

Want to enter the writing contest or judge it? Both are needed.

For information on Ageless Authors or future contests, contact Larry Upshaw at 214 405-5093 or larry@agelessauthors.com.

Larry W Upshaw

Ageless Authors +1 214-405-5093 email us here Visit us on social media: Facebook Twitter LinkedIn

This press release can be viewed online at: https://www.einpresswire.com/article/517386666

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire[™], tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information. © 1995-2020 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.