"PeopleGuru has a history of working with growth-oriented organizations and understands the value in delivering a single database, user-friendly HCM solution that connects a dynamic, diverse, and virtual workforce," said PeopleGuru's Chief Revenue Officer, Steven Cohen. "Schwazze demonstrates how flexible HCM technology can drive user adoption and align its people to the productivity goals of the organization."

High-growth organizations are often challenged with finding a workforce management solution that can scale as a workforce experiences exponential growth, opens new locations, and expands into emerging markets.

"Schwazze is beginning to execute on its outlined acquisition strategy within the state of Colorado. We went through an exhaustive search to find a responsive and sophisticated HRIS solution that could grow with us," said Nirup Krishnamurthy, Chief Integration and Information Officer of Schwazze. "As we rapidly scale our workforce with the closing of the announced acquisitions throughout 2020, we needed a nimble and scalable solution that understood the nuances of our industry. PeopleGuru met that critical need for us and has been a great partner during the implementation and the onboarding of our first acquisition partner."
