NEWPORT BEACH, CA, UNITED STATES, May 26, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- It all started on a stretch of sun dappled road in California driving away from a pit-stop to grab a bottle of wine to bring for a friends cocktail party. I was looking for an alternative that I could bring instead of the classic standby of a bottle of wine. I realized there was no solution on offer that really allowed that same sense of confidence an arriving guest has in the simple gesture of handing over a nice bottle of wine to contribute to the host's home.

Nowadays it seems like everything on the shelf is a can but pretty much limited to Hard Seltzer's or some new flavored beer. Wines are also now commonly packaged in cans. You have probably noticed that there are now large sections of alcohol beverages in cans in retail markets and liquor stores like Kroeger, Bevmo or Total Wine & More. But if you have tried any of these new drinks they really don't taste that good and many of them are using artificial flavors, sweeteners and coloring.

“

Brady Bunte - Chic Cocktails was the talk of the party and everybody just loved them.”
