With the school year ending amidst the COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic and all Orlando, Florida schools shut down, creative VPK parents produced this video to capture the spirit of their children celebrating the end of their very first school year. "Viewers can see that even though the kids were not able to be together in person, they maintain their enthusiasm with the smiles on their cute little faces", said Ken Rubin, parent of VPK twins Luna and Apollo Rubin.

The second part of the video shows a drive-by thank you of the VPK students delivering balloons, cards and gifts to their favorite teacher: Miss Ross.

The video was developed and produced by VPK parents after forming a WhatsApp group where they discussed the idea to create and distribute the video. Everyone submitted a clip of their child to Kenyte for inclusion in the final video.

The background audio/song is paid for, including royalties for distribution and reuse. Producer and parent permission to use this video in online or on-air news is granted, but please notify
