"Not every hair loss clinic offers PRP therapy for hair loss issues," explained Miguel Canales, surgeon, and founder of SVHI PRP therapy. "We're excited to offer the procedure as well as other full service alternatives such as hair transplantations. An initial consult is the first step towards recovering one's hair and looking better and more self-confident."

Bay Area residents can review the post at <https://svhi-prp.com/blog/2020/05/11/there-is-now-a-new-therapy-for-hair-loss-called-platelet-rich-plasma-prp-right-here-in-the-bay-area/>. There, they can educate themselves on what platelet rich plasma therapy is, its potential as a treatment for hair loss in both men and women, and review the options including a consultation with Dr. Miguel Canales. Alternatively, they can visit the Silicon Valley Hair Institute (<https://siliconvalleyhairinstitute.com/>) which offers hair transplantation services. And for those interested in skin care, the company operates Silicon Valley Aesthetic Dermatology at <https://svaestheticderm.com/> which offers best-in-class laser therapies for improved skin care.

Here is the background for this release. Most men and many women will experience hair loss during their lifetimes. Aging in and of itself can cause thinning hair, and in many cases, additional genetic issues will exacerbate the hair loss issue. Fortunately, new treatments are available from medical to hair transplantation to PRP therapy. The best course of action is to take the action of requesting a consultation with a medical doctor. With offices in Foster City, California, the clinic is available to nearby consumers in San Mateo, Burlingame, and even San Francisco.
