

Advocate Sarah Gerber Announces the Launch of 50/50 Table, Curated Gatherings in a Digital Dinner Experience

50/50 Table gathers stakeholders in a virtual space for empowering dinner conversations that build new narratives for gender equality.

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, USA, June 7, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- "Our increasing reliance on digital interactions leaves some feeling the limitations of these tools and a lack of intentional spaces," said Sarah Gerber, founder of 50/50 Table. "That led me to explore ways to harness this unique moment of reflection in ways that foster social growth and meaningful connection in an online space."

Sarah Gerber leads inspiring virtual conversations over "dinner" with 6-8 people.

DIGITAL DINNERS

In response, we designed a digital dinner experience that focuses on engagement and participation through curated intimate online gatherings. These immersive spaces focus on story exchanging and growth-oriented dialogue for imagining the world we are building once we reemerge. With a group of six to eight people over "dinner," a facilitator-led dialogue provides an opportunity to remember we are all part of the solution, even at a time when we might be feeling helpless.

I envision women and men co-creating a more equal future, building bridges across spaces that divide us, one dinner dialogue, and story at a time”

Sarah Gerber

“I believe that experiencing spaces of equality is an important step in the systemic change needed to move the needle forward for gender equity. I envision women and men co-creating a more equal future, building bridges across spaces that divide us, one dinner dialogue, and story at a time.”

50/50 Table is now accepting applications to attend digital dinners and considering proposals for new partnerships.

She is also the executive producer of Twenty Twenty Studios, and has produced award-winning documentaries and traveled the world capturing compelling, mission-driven stories.
