“In a world where public entities often see a waning of resources but an increase in demands, TIPS can be an incredible resource that allows public entities to legally, efficiently, and transparently procure necessary goods and services from highly qualified vendors such as Wahsega.” - Meredith Barton, Chief Operating Officer at TIPS

Wahsega’s advantage comes from their patent, which reduces PoE cabling by 50%, enabling schools in all 50 states to save thousands on installation costs. For example, schools in New York, California and Texas can specify and purchase Wahsega products through two different TIPS contracts. As a member of TIPS, Wahsega is listed in the Technology Solutions Products and Services (200105) and Security Systems Products and Services (200203) contracts.
