

Award-Winning Pop Singer-Songwriter Jann Klose Returns with New Single “Pilot Light”

ASHEVILLE, NC, USA, June 11, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Award-winning artist Jann Klose's new single and music video “Pilot Light” has passed 1,000,000 views on YouTube. The video was shot during lockdown after the passing of Jann's manager Gary Salzman from Covid-19 related illness. Jann asked his current NYC band members to tape themselves at home playing along to the track. A music video was quickly produced, edited and released early May and has since gone viral on YouTube.

In a time when people are in search of comfort and hope, Jann Klose has created a pop rock song with a catchy melody, driving acoustic guitar and edgy, substantive sound. Produced by David Schoenwetter at his NYC home studio the song is moving, emotive and highlights Jann's powerful vocal range.

Says Jann: “The song was written during a breakup but when we lost Gary and the song was scheduled to come out within days of his passing, I felt that the approach had to completely change. My NY team at Big Management and I decided to dedicate the song to Gary's memory. Since everyone was on lockdown we scrapped an earlier version of the video and reshot it with self tapes from home."

Most recently, Jann had two songs placed on movie soundtracks, including his hit duet "Love You the Most" with Alicia Madison in the movie "Married Young" (Amazon) and "Let Me Be Brave" in the film "One Little Finger" alongside contributions by Quincy Jones, Siedah Garrett and Julian Lennon. The music video for "Love You the Most" has since passed 1.5 million views and streams on YouTube and Spotify alone and was included in the coveted New Music Friday Spotify curated playlist.
