SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, June 16, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Remix, a San Francisco based company that helps governments build more livable cities, was selected among hundreds of candidates as one of the World Economic Forum's "Technology Pioneers". Remix was founded in 2014 by four Code for America fellows to bring modern tools to transportation professionals around the world. Remix's software platform brings together the complete transportation picture to help governments collaborate across silos and develop the best mobility options for their communities. Five years later, Remix works with 325+ agencies across three continents, including New York, London, Sydney, and Helsinki.

Your commute time and zip code you're born into are the strongest predictors of economic mobility. We are passionate about building a platform to empower cities to plan the best transportation system.”

Tiffany Chu, Remix CEO and Co-Founder

The World Economic Forum's Technology Pioneers are early to growth-stage companies from around the world that are involved in the design, development and deployment of new technologies and innovations, and are poised to have a significant impact on business and society. Technology Pioneers community is an integral part of the larger Global Innovators community of start-ups at the World Economic Forum.

Following its selection as Technology Pioneer, CEO and Co-Founder Tiffany Chu will be invited to participate at World Economic Forum activities, events and discussions throughout the year. Remix will also contribute to Forum initiatives over the next two years, working with policymakers and private sector leaders to help define the global agenda on key issues.

“We're excited to welcome Remix to our 20th cohort of Technology Pioneers,” says Susan Nesbitt, Head of the Global Innovators Community, World Economic Forum. “Remix and its fellow pioneers are developing cutting edge technologies all over the world. Beyond their innovations, these firms are contributing greatly to improving the state of the world."

"We are thrilled to be acknowledged as a pioneer by the World Economic Forum", said Remix's CEO and Co-Founder Tiffany Chu. "Your commute time and zip code you're born into are the strongest predictors of economic mobility. We are passionate about building a platform to empower cities to plan the best transportation system – from public transit to safer streets to ever-increasing new modes of mobility – for better economic opportunity, for better communities, and for a better planet."

This year's cohort selection marks the 20th anniversary of the Tech Pioneers community. Throughout its 20-year run, many Technology Pioneers have continuously contributed to advancement in their industries while some have even gone on to become household names. Past recipients include Airbnb, Google, Kickstarter, Mozilla, Palantir Technologies, Spotify, TransferWise, Twitter and Wikimedia.

2020 Tech Pioneer firms are shaping the future by advancing technologies such as AI, IoT, robotics, blockchain, biotechnology and many more. The diversity of these companies extends to their leadership as well, as over 25% of 2020 Tech Pioneers are female led. The firms also come from regions all around the world, extending their community far beyond Silicon Valley. Technology Pioneers have been selected based on the community's selection criteria, which includes innovation, impact and leadership as well as the company's relevance with the World Economic Forum's Platforms.
