Bruce K. Shibuya has been acknowledged as an exceptional leader by more than one coworker and peers has remarked on his impressive foresight when it comes to technology in general and individual project forecasts. He has an eye for detail, a dedication to a deadline, and a seemingly intuitive mind for predictive analytics and manufactured intelligence. This is why Bruce K. Shibuya has had an impressive career as an inventor and leader and why his upward momentum is still occurring at the same rate. Bruce K. Shibuya served as the Chief Operating Officer at Quanergy, leading his coworkers with quick thinking and innovation.

Bruce K. Shibuya Facilitated Growth and Efficiency With Forward Thinking and Innovation.

Bruce K. Shibuya is known as more than a great leader and mentor who brings projects to completion. He is an inventor with patents of his own. Solutions in predictive analytics are required to improve efficiency, increase production, and reduce errors. Bruce K. Shibuya specializes in these solutions, in fact he even invents those solutions when he sees a need for improvement. Bruce K. Shibuya has received the Toyota executive management award for his impressive focus to details in the past, and several other awards and accolades because he draws the attention of CEOs with his ability to look into the data to create improvement for the company. When he comes into a management position the bottom line grows. He has improved production and profits between 10 million to 50 million at various companies he has worked at. This is why he is considered a top performer and his work is described as transformative by the companies where he has built his reputation and career.

The automotive industry would not be the same without this innovative leader who translates data into useful information for efficiency and sales and even has patents backing his proven way of turning historical data into information that is priceless. The growth he brings makes him in high demand across the automotive leadership field and he always delivers with his proven and unique way of identifying and solving issues as they arise.

Bruce K. Shibuya will continue to work in the semiconductor and other industries manufacturing field and bring innovative changes to improve productivity, reduce mistakes, and increase efficiency and therefore profits. Bruce K. Shibuya is one of those people who have a passion for the work they do, and it shows in each and every project and patented invention.
