but still struggling to land a job position of their dreams. Considering how fierce competition in the labor market might be, CraftResumes.com releases a well-anticipated service that will certainly help thousands of job seekers.

Having analyzed the current offers in its niche, the company decided to personalize its services by adding career coaching options at affordable prices. The advantages of personalizing and outlining both the short-term and long-term goals have already helped hundreds of applicants across the globe.

Using this new feature is relatively simple and straightforward. Those willing to order a career coaching service have to book a coach, schedule an appointment, and start their journey of self-reflection and improvement. A typical coaching session includes a resume review, a 30-minute Q&A session with a complete focus on a job search strategy, and compliance with a follow-up strategy plan.

Since such a session involves no editing, but rather a clear outlining of goals and objectives to be accomplished, it assists job seekers on a completely different level. It is important to imply that CraftResumes.com clearly mentions what this service CAN'T do for customers. It will not look for a job for the client, nor promise immediate results. With that being said, a company fully recognizes that career coaching is one of the services it offers that will find its customers struggling with a job search.

Any career coaching session will also include a follow-up strategy, which serves as a draft of milestones that are to be accomplished. With such a detailed and comprehensive approach, CraftResumes.com deserves a try for those who are looking for more than a CV and Resume editing option.

That said, every job seeker can now get a professional career coaching at affordable rates, alongside browsing through dozens of coach profiles. Either through ordering a full pack of editing or just a career coaching session, the company will be happy to assist or even wholly fix one's career issues.
