WTIA too has braced for the New Normal, preparing itself for its annual conference but this year with a twist – Online from its Seoul office where more than 100 + of its Investors, Royal Families Offices, TOP Government Officials, HNWI's and its key member will gather for the 1st time ONLINE where WTIA will announce their new strategic vision after measuring all the Post Covid19 Business Challenges that the world will face and must adapt.

Governments worldwide have already allocated more than $13 trillion to stabilize economies in free-fall and restart growth. These measures, written and delivered at speed, have succeeded in many ways. But as the crisis drags on, new questions are arising. Is the money directed in the best possible way? And if more was needed? asked Keun-Young Kim, Chairman at WTIA HQ

Emerging technologies, such as the Internet of Things (IoT), artificial intelligence (AI) and cloud computing and Contactless Payment Systems are now a part of our everyday lives. Such technologies may be a doorway to a more cost effective and efficient future for the business world. Perversely, these technologies can also provide avenues for the criminal fraternity to commit larger, more rewarding and potentially more sophisticated cybercrimes.

The Focus of this this year's conference will be key subjects like Digital Currency (moving from Cash to Cashless / Contactless transactions), Cyber Security, AI and Blockchain where decision makers will be able to witness first-hand how WTIA's converged platform will help them make the Post Covid19 Digital transition seamless.

WTIA strives to be at the forefront of identifying innovative ideas, people, services and programs that raise consciousness, community leadership and capital to eradicate the cycles of poverty, violence and inequality that have so long plagued our 'third-world' nations. Further quipped CEO, Minsoo Kaycee Kim.

We must not forget that sustainable success is not simply a case of responding to individual challenges, but dealing with all these challenges in a holistic way while also looking to the future. Customers need to have confidence in our financial systems. They need to feel that they are protected. They need to receive the right product at the right time. Only then will they have the confidence needed for the economy to flourish further added Rohan F. Britto, Managing Director for MEA and Europe
