Many travelers think they need to explore destinations on their own to receive an authentic experience. However, experienced tour guides like Matthew Muller argue that couldn't be farther from the truth. The correct tour can greatly enhance your travel experience, and Matthew Muller from New Orleans recently explained why.

"The first and most obvious benefit of taking a tour is safety," Matthew Muller of New Orleans said. "Experienced tour guides know the exact places where tourists are welcome and areas where they not be."

Matthew Muller of New Orleans explained that most popular travel destinations are safer than some tourists expect. Although, it's the smaller hassles, like scams and petty theft, that can put a sour taste in any travelers' mouth. Matthew Muller stated that an experienced guide knows the local scams and dangers and steers attendees away from them.

Expert tour guides like Matthew Muller also take all of the stress away from your travel planning experience. Leave the meal planning, timing, and transportation up to them, and simply enjoy the ride. Similarly, Matthew Muller native of New Orleans explained that being able to take a passenger seat means you view far more than the road along the journey. Those who explore via guided tour typically see more of the route between the starting point and the destination.

Another point Matthew stressed is that traveling via tour saves travelers time. Many times, that means hours or even days are saved. Tour guides know exactly where to go, and they don't require you to travel long hours via public transportation. By hopping aboard a tour-company-owned vehicle, you skip slow bus or train rides and enjoy the knowledgeable commentary provided by the guide. You also don't run the risk of getting lost and backtracking. Anyone who has time constraints while traveling can benefit greatly from taking a tour.

Matthew Muller explained that one of the greatest benefits of taking tours is experiencing new cultures. Qualified tour guides understand the local culture and how to respect that culture while giving travelers authentic cultural experiences.

"Traveling via tour is also another major way travelers meet fellow travelers," Matthew Muller, from New Orleans explained. "Anyone whose traveling solo or simply wants to interact with other travelers from around the globe should join a tour. Many times, people who meet on our tours become lifelong friends and travel buddies."

Matthew Muller added that travelers often gain important travel insight from the people they meet on tours. They may learn about another interesting excursion in the same town or another destination they visit in the future. A guided tour is an ideal way to explore in a safe, friendly, informative, and fully adventurous environment.
