

Ai4 2020: Attending Companies Announced

With the best list of attending companies yet, the fully-digital Ai4 2020 conference (August 18th-20th) offers countless networking opportunities.

BROOKLYN, NEW YORK, USA, July 6, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Each year, Ai4 attracts attendees from the world's top companies -- and this year is no exception. The list of attending companies includes an abundance of Fortune 500 companies and top companies from the healthcare, retail, finance, cybersecurity, oil & energy, telecommunications, and automotive industries. A snapshot of these companies can be found below.

With over 4,000 attendees expected, the conference poses as the ideal opportunity to network with industry leaders using the private networking app. Through this app, attendees can connect with each other and schedule digital 1:1 meetings during the conference. Attendees can even search and sort the directory by industry, job function, and company size.

In total, attendees can expect 100+ speakers and 35 hours of content across 16 fully-digital tracks, all from the comfort of their own homes. Tracks are both industry-specific, including healthcare, finance, retail, cybersecurity, telecom, automotive, and oil & energy, as well as technical, including NLP, computer vision, AI research, and more.

While it's too much for any one person to experience, you'll be able to personalize your agenda to ensure you learn exactly what you want. In addition, all registered attendees will have immediate post-conference access to all presentation recordings.

The conference is free to attend for those who qualify - and even for those who don't, the price is still 60% off the initial pricing.
