EINPresswire.com/ -- Setting the global standards for e-discovery, the Electronic Discovery Reference Model (EDRM) is pleased to celebrate its global advisory council leader, Doug Austin's new monthly webinar series focused on e-discovery case law.

EDRM is a foundational sponsor of Doug Austin's eDiscovery Today blog along with Craig Ball, president of Craig D. Ball, P.C. and EDRM's general counsel.

"Doug Austin surfaces great, informative and influential e-discovery cases every week," said Mary Mack,

CEO and chief legal technologist, EDRM. "I am thrilled to have the opportunity to discuss the month in review with Doug and one of his many renowned guests."

"I have been doing a monthly webinar on e-discovery issues with Doug for several years now, and it's always a treat for me when we get to do the review of case law," said Tom O'Connor, Director, Gulf Coast Legal Technology Center. "It allows us to stop being technologists for a brief time and put on our lawyer's hat to talk about legal issues and how they are playing out in the e-discovery field. I'm looking forward to continuing this collaboration with Doug in his new EDRM sponsorship."
