The lab access included in the Wiley AWS books allows learners to apply their technical skills in virtual environments. Learners will be able to experience realistic exercises within these lab environments, allowing them to prepare for their certification exams and prepare for real-life technical scenarios they may encounter as cloud engineers.

"XtremeLabs's mission is to provide experiential training to learners around the globe, a purpose furthered by this partnership with Wiley," said Ahmar Abbas, CEO at XtremeLabs LLC. "The three titles and bundled hands-on learning labs prepare students for the SAA-C01, SOA-C01, and CLF-C01 AWS certification exams. Achieving certifications in in-demand technologies such as Amazon Web Services can dramatically increase employability options for students and professionals in current challenging economic times."

XtremeLabs has worked with Wiley to produce hands-on digital labs for over 15 titles that are part of its Microsoft Official Academic Courseware (MOAC) titles. XtremeLabs has also partnered with Wiley to bring easily accessible, virtual hands-on labs to learners on its Efficient Learning platform.
