Though a number of new and existing companies have shown up online offering cheap prom dresses for sale, these newbies tend to compromise quality and feel. Unlike these low-quality dress retailers that serve the low-end high school prom market, ADASA's designer gowns are designed and crafted from the best fabrics and flaunt high-quality construction. Price is also a new winner this season as ADASA's short and long prom dresses collection is on clearance sale. The 2020 prom category is targeted toward a discerning teen or woman who wants to look her best and wear the best prom dress available in a fashion-forward style at a discount price.

As per the ADASA design team, some of the hottest prom trend colors and patterns have been incorporated into the 2020 collection. Chic colors remain on the shortlist of jaw-dropping prom colors this season, as do the traditional red, black, and off-white. It's great to note that white, generally a little-worn prom dress hue, has received such a positive response from teens compared to other colors over the recent years and is high in demand for prom 2020.
