At Russian Icon, we carefully examine the icon to determine the appropriate treatment and the best course of action to take. Restoration works may include:

- Archeological restoration aimed at the preservation of the overpainting and previously restored fragments of the icon;

- Preservation of the original and surviving parts of the antique icon, without reconstruction of the losses;
- Reconstruction of colors and tonal unity of the icon to recapture its original artistic idea;
- Complete restoration and renovation of the icon to its original condition, including structural and finish repairs;
- Finish restoration to bring an existing finish back to life with the use of original materials and solvents;
- Icon conservation to stop or slow the deterioration of the original condition and preserve the finish of the item.
