

Docufraud Announces Forensic Document Examination Service in Support of Jamaica's Parish Courts

Forensic Examination services continue for handwriting analysis, signature verification and examination of forged and altered documents

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, July 20, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dwayne Strocen, President of Docufraud Canada (www.docufraudcanada.ca) announces forensic document examination services continue in support of Jamaica's Parish Court system.

Although Docufraud Canada is based in Canada, it has produced court ready reports for most of the legal jurisdictions throughout the Caribbean, including Jamaica. During this time of stay-at-home and work-from-home orders, the judicial system has not ground to a complete stop. Legal matters continue to be filed. Attorneys continue to prepare for court and document examiners continue to examine allegations of fraudulent documents, signature forgeries and contested wills.

Problem one says Strocen, is “how to keep people safe”. Many Parish's will be enhancing their use of video conferencing. While decisions are made related to the complexities of these issues in a post COVID world, the legal process continues.

One aspect that will not change is the basic rule of law, particularly as it pertains to the use of forensic experts. Docufraud Canada employs fully accredited examiners who are specialists in handwriting analysis, signature verification and the examination of altered documents.

Docufraud Canada is no different in that we continue to review documents, and prepare for court either in the presentation of our notarized reports or simply to confirm the legitimacy of a document or signature. Dwayne Strocen also notes the increase in matters related to employment contracts. "This is a time where employment stress is compounded by layoffs and general uncertainty" says Mr. Strocen.
