About #WeThePlanet

On September 21, 2019, Kunal Sood launched We The Planet at the United Nations Headquarters during UNGA Week in New York City. Kunal Sood and Laura Muranaka are the Co-Founders of We The Planet and the #WeThePlanet global campaign. They created #WeThePlanet to unite the youth and the elders, left and right, women and men, abled and disabled as global citizens to reimagine our approach to the planet, people, peace, prosperity, and partnership by uniting in action to make the impossible possible to protect all life on land and under the sea. NOVUS Global X Impact – Decade of Transformation aims to transform our world for a better future from the oceans to the moon by the year 2030.

We The Planet is an exponential organization that catalyzes global citizens to unite the youth and elders in action to make the impossible possible. The official launch of #WeThePlanet is a worldwide movement and campaign inaugurated by H.E. Maria Fernanda Espinosa Garcés, 74th President of the United Nations General Assembly. The #WeThePlanet Pledge, signed by H.E. Thomas Remengesau Jr., President of Palau on September 23, 2019, to usher in a new decade of transformation and global prosperity through finding solutions using science innovation and technology to solve for our grand global challenges such as world poverty and hunger, global health, and climate change.
