/EINPresswire.com/ -- tap, the world's first truly unified crypto ALT banking app and the currently the only company in Europe offering a Prepaid MasterCard, regulated to hold customers' crypto assets and offering e-money services throughout the EEA, has added a new feature – the facility to fund the tap account wallets with a debit card for instant loading directly from the tap Hub.

This additional facility which has been rolled out globally, makes it easier for the user to add, withdraw and exchange money to streamline the entire process of buying, selling and spending crypto.

Arsen Torosian, tap Founder / CEO, said:

“We are continually upgrading and looking at how we can improve our product to ensure we stay the leading unified crypto ALT banking app. The latest addition of allowing instant loading from a debit card which was launched this month, will ensure our customers have the most seamless crypto experience on the market.”

Regulated to trade and store customers' digital assets by the Gibraltar Financial Services Commission, tap is in essence, bridging the gap between traditional and non-traditional currency. This allows both seasoned and new crypto traders to not only access funds quickly but also pay day-to-day expenses using their crypto assets via the Tap Prepaid Mastercard. A revolutionary approach to personal finance.

Tap.global is paving the path to facilitate this transitioning economy by combining modern banking with crypto trading through their multi-coin e-wallet. The Tap app users in the EEA have the option of adding the Tap Prepaid Mastercard that is linked to the user's account, the user can choose any crypto asset or cash balance held to fund the purchase with their tap Prepaid Mastercard.
