Biography:

Quincy Valentine is a musician from the Bronx, New York. From a young age, he began singing, rapping, and creating music. He's played the keyboard for various local artists and more known artists such as Scarface and Day 26. He has also been a music director for recording artists and theater productions associated with Carnegie Hall Presents, Theater for the New City, and Oberia D. Dempsey Theater. Additionally, Quincy is also an artist, songwriter, and music producer who has worked various artists in Pop, R&B, Hip-hop, and Gospel genres as well as self-producing his songs combining his unique production style with his poetic songwriting. Rapping since the age of 9, he stands out with a lyrical flow that blends the old school boom bap era with the lyricism of modern times. Additionally, when singing, he exhibits a vocal tone that is unique and soulful.
