PUNE, MAHARASTRA, INDIA, July 29, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Nisin Market:

Executive Summary

Global Nisin Market is valued approximately USD 423.9 million in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 4.5 % over the forecast period 2020-2027. Nisin is a polycyclic antibacterial peptide that is produced by fermentation of food-grade bacteria and used as a food preservative. Nisin increases the shelf life of the food products, thus widely used in processed food, majorly in dairy products, canned food, and meat products. The global Nisin market is facing challenges in the production facilities fully functional due to shortage of staff and resources amidst the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) outbreak. The effective and non-toxic properties than other natural preservatives, nisin acts as a natural preservative with therapeutic benefits, consumer awareness for clean label products are the few factors responsible for growth of the market over the forecast period. Furthermore, the introduction of new products and other strategic alliance by the market players will create a lucrative demand for the market. For instance: In December 2019, Royal DSM acquired Royal CSK (Friesland), a leading food ingredient company in the European region. This acquisition enables both the company to expand their product portfolio and expertise in food & beverage business. However, crucial and sensitive production and use of preservation techniques to discourage demand for nisin are the major factors restraining the growth of global Nisin market during the forecast period.
