For the first time ever, David is peeling back the curtain for other event planners in this unique Mentorship Program

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES , August 10, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- David Tutera, in collaboration with the The Event Planners Association, presents the launch of a new event planning program - The DAVIDTUTERA Mentorship. Tutera has been a well-known figure in the event planning community for over three decades and with his list of high-profile clients, such as Zendaya, Elton John, Jennifer Lopez and several A-list celebrities, many event planners, designers and community leaders are taking advantage of this new opportunity.

After three decades of planning and designing events throughout the world, I am thrilled to be a mentor to the industry I love.”

David Tutera

David has created this experience for event planners and designers to come together, flourish, and make lasting connections with other professionals from around the world. This unique and valuable mentorship program is designed for business owners who want to grow their business, especially as experts in the event-planning industry. The program provides actionable business strategies for building a business that’s relevant today.

The DAVIDTUTERA Mentorship program includes a 12-month immersion period of dedicated guidance from David himself. Participants can expect to learn more about Tutera's exclusive insights to success, receive support, learn how to secure and plan events with higher budgets, and much more. In addition, participants have access to monthly online live training calls and group calls, and may also receive exclusive invitations to professional educational events.

Tutera stresses the importance of having both business skills and event planning skills to run a successful wedding or event planning business. In the DAVIDTUTERA Mentorship program David shares real life case studies, business growth strategies, management of vendor teams and tips for balancing life & business.

In addition to providing participants access to extensive information, Tutera's guidance helps participants build confidence. "According to many event planners, one of their shared top goals is to become the first choice for customers in their area," said Lee Richter, CEO of the Event Planners Association. The program is specifically designed to help event planning experts build their business and be a terrific resource for their clients.

Tutera recently awarded one of the participants, Melissa Banks, a scholarship to the mentorship program, based on her community engagement and many years of experience in the industry. Banks is an event planner, motivational speaker and the Co-Founder of Black Women's Business Expo. Banks said, "The mentorship program will change your thinking of the type of event planning business you can really create; it's amazing!"

David is thrilled to share his expertise with the event planning community, and looks forward to helping event planners and designers grow their business and reach their goals. "This program is what I wish I had earlier in my career. With no guidance, no insight, no business education and no direction, I had to learn by trial and error, and I made so many mistakes", shares David. He realized that it was time to share all that he has experienced and learned with others.

David takes great pride in bringing information, knowledge and insight to the event planning industry. "We all share a common passion, which is making others happy through planning and designing CELEBRATIONS", says David. With this program, participants will learn, grow their business and increase their confidence, not just in this industry but within themselves.

Registration to the exclusive DAVIDTUTERA Mentorship program is now open and available at <https://MentorWithDavid.com>.
