Flooring is proud to announce its partnership with SOURCE, a digital library made for architects and designers.

SOURCE is a digital materials library and collaboration platform for commercial product specifications. With their free account, verified design professionals can browse over 125k products, connect with their local rep for over 1,700 brands, and use time-saving tools such as sample ordering, mockups, and product detail exporting. Architects and designers are able to create a free account at www.TOTHESOURCE.com.

Lonseal Flooring plus Source

"We are thrilled to welcome Lonseal's resilient, sustainable flooring products to the platform. Designers can now view detailed information for hundreds of Lonseal products in our digital library, connect with their local rep, and visualize how a Lonseal selection would look in their design. This partnership empowers designers to include Lonseal in their project specification alongside other finishes from leading brands." – Source Marketing Team
