

Classroom 2.0 For Teachers Released for Immediate Availability

Teachers finally have a comprehensive guide for optimizing remote instruction

COLORADO SPRINGS, CO, USA, August 18, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- For Immediate Release — Today, effective immediately, Classroom 2.0 For Teachers is being released for immediate licensing by 2Win! Global. Educators from all disciplines and across all student age groups can now improve their presence, professionalism, and effectiveness while instructing remotely.

"Now and in the future, we want teachers to feel empowered, inspired, and enthused about teaching in the unfamiliar medium of virtual," said Bob Riefstahl, founding Partner at 2Win! Global. "We have been providing virtual instruction on soft-skills to the largest, global technology companies in the world."

"We decided to create a comprehensive, self-study course that provided 2Win clients (and now teachers) our secrets to successful virtual instruction," said Chad Wilson, Vice-President of Curriculum.

"Microsoft has deployed 180,000 licenses of this course for their worldwide employees and is seeing immediate improvements in their virtual presence and effectiveness, and we felt that teachers deserved that same success," said Daniel Conway, President and CEO of 2Win! Global.

Achieving Learning Targets

The course is specifically designed to support the achievement of learning targets for students. "With virtual instruction, achieving learning targets requires a unique and innovative combination of a teacher's physical space at home, mastery of the technology, and virtual engagement skills," stated Riefstahl. "This course provides K-12 teachers, as well as college professors, a comprehensive list of technologies and soft-skills needed to drive student engagement and achieve learning outcomes."

A recent article in Forbes explained the connection between Business training for Fortune 500 companies and training teachers for virtual instruction during the COVID-19 pandemic. According to Riefstahl, "We have found that our classes taught virtually produce as good of results as in-person classes. We want students to have that same experience."
