“Though we’re based in Colorado, Louisiana is deep in our souls, not just musically but in every way,” says bandleader/lead singer/songwriter Johnny Ryan. “Our video producer/director Jim Mimna completely gets that. His vision for ‘Creole Skies’ reflects what’s in our hearts as much as our music does. I couldn’t be happier with his work.”

To hear a new band go from zero to a hundred like this is to know that the world is in good hands.”

Bill Bentley, Americana Highways

Media praise for CREOLE SKIES continues to roll in. Just a few of these latest raves come from Bill Bentley in Americana Highways (“To hear a new band go from zero to a hundred like this is to know that the world is in good hands.”), Rob Dickens in Listening Through The Lens (“ ...

an unabashed deep-rooted channel of funk and soul, guaranteed to put a smile on your face. TOTALLY recommended.”), DJ Ralph in Xtrasound New Music Show/Blogtalk Radio (“Fun and soulful — just the right notes every time”), Ryan Pike in Music Matters Magazine (“ ... soulful and funky, with great stories and nonstop jamming throughout. This certainly will be a Top 10 album of the year.”), and Donald Teplyske in Fervor Coulee (“Like a finely spiced dish, there are layers to the music of Johnny & The Mongrels, revealing not only their influences but their individuality. Highly recommended.”)

The band has also been featured in American Songwriter, Making A Scene, Digital Journal, American Blues Scene and other publications.
