Paul Zway

Exclusive Tents has led the glamping industry for over 16 years, providing safari-style tents to boutique resorts, government agencies, celebrities, and homeowners globally. The new dining tent designs builds on the company's design expertise and uses rip-stop technology, anti-rot compounds, eco-friendly materials, and has a minimal impact on the surrounding environment.

The new social distancing tents are eminently customizable, as well. From 64 square feet to +1,000 square feet, they can be designed to suit any installation area, bringing luxury to beachside venues, family events, resort grounds, and more. From poolside tents to restaurant sidewalk dining tents, this COVID dining solution delivers a luxury dining experience that can be branded to any degree necessary, whether that's a minimalist look, "driftwood chic", or something more traditional. All tents come with a ceiling liner, curtains, fan mount. Manufactured in S. Africa.

"We've completed hundreds of glamping projects around the world," Zway continued. "We bring that level of expertise, experience, and passion to every project, whether we're hand-crafting a patio dining tent for a downtown restaurant, putting together a personal dining tent for a customer's family or any luxurious tent accommodations."
