Distance learning is the new norm for most schools which poses many challenges to everyone involved during this pandemic. When the stay at home orders were enacted, SuperCamp pivoted to create LIVE virtual experiences starting with SuperCampU held in the month of July to 160 students. It was such a success that one mom called it a "gift for her child's future readiness" as the classes are highly engaging where students want to be there.

"It's a big challenge for students to stay motivated and to put in the extra focus and effort that's needed and a big challenge for parents to keep motivating their children while working from home at the same time", said Bobbi DePorter, Founder of SuperCamp. "We created SuperCamp's live virtual Webinar session that aims to motivate students, teachers, and instructors to refresh their minds during these times", she continued.

Ideal for parents and teens, SuperCamp Master Class, aims to cover the challenges that have come up for everyone during these tough times. Participants can learn from SuperCamp's professionals in facilitating personal and academic success about the strategies and skills to find success.

Another offering from SuperCamp is FUTURE DAY - an exciting live virtual workshop like no other on August 29th. It establishes a move in a student's mindset, in their eagerness to take charge of their learning, to be responsible for their results, and to be dedicated to an efficient system to stay focused.

The Webinar is designed to help students navigate their direction, keep on track, and encourage self-motivation. The course will be filled with insights on the things needed to be successful, keep focused, and stay on top of assignments even with many distractions.

Students will feel a transformation in their attitude in a single transformative day where they can learn how to flourish in their new school year and beyond. Future Day is an interactive experience suitable for children ages 13 to 18.

Mastermind teams will start on September 8th.

Suitable for students ages 11 to 18, SuperCamp Courses are a week-long virtual course that covers Quantum Learning, Quantum Reading, Quantum Strategies, and Self-Driven Motivation and Leadership Now.
