“In these challenging times, companies need more than a solution, they need a partner,” said Tom Bohn, CEO and President of ACG. “Insperity is a tried and true solution for our members and the companies that they serve. It is the right solution for middle-market companies.”

Insperity and ACG entered into a strategic alliance in 2015. During this five-year relationship, one key initiative has been the formation of the Insperity® Capital Growth Program, which offers its full-service Workforce

Optimization® HR solution to private equity-backed portfolio companies. By providing an HR infrastructure, taking on employer obligations, and focusing on a human capital strategy this solution helps companies minimize HR-related risks so that they can concentrate on their business goals and portfolio growth.

“We are honored that ACG has selected Insperity as its preferred HR provider for middle-market companies,” said Jay Mincks, Insperity executive vice president of sales and marketing. “We look forward to continued growth with ACG and supporting our common goal of helping middle-market companies succeed.”
