Currently the organization is working to package 100,000 meals to be delivered to families facing a food shortage in the Tulsa area.

This life sustaining food contains 21 vitamins and minerals and can be produced for 25 cents per meal. This food helps families to boost their immune system and maintain their health”

Sherry Horn

The mission of Kids Against Hunger Global is to reduce the number of hungry children in the nation and to feed starving children around the globe.

Kids Against Hunger Global is a Christian humanitarian feeding organization, “motivating youth of all ages to volunteer their time and resources to assemble a high nutrition dehydrated food package. This life sustaining food contains 21 vitamins and minerals and can be produced for 25 cents per meal. This food helps families to boost their immune system and maintain their health,” according to spokesperson Sherry Horn.

Thanks to numerous volunteers and charitable organizations, Kids Against Hunger Global is able to package and distribute highly nutritious food.

The food is distributed locally and around the world. Some fast facts about the food packages include:

To date, Kids Against Hunger Global has distributed over 14 million meals consisting of their specially formulated foods to starving families in over 80 countries.

The food packages have a shelf life of three years, so families can safely store it for whenever it is needed.

Approximately half of the food is sent overseas to developing or impoverished countries, areas suffering natural disasters, or countries affected by war. The other half of the food stays in the US and is distributed to families facing food shortages.

To Date, Kids Against Hunger and affiliates have distributed

Billion Meals

80
Countries

To date Kids Against Global Hunger have distributed over two billion meals in more than 80 countries around the world.

In a single year, the organization has provided over 535,000 meals to local food banks.

Packaging the food is an essential part of this organization. Churches, schools, sports teams, youth groups, or any charitable organization can help do this by visiting their food packaging page and signing up.

The packaging process is safe and easy for anyone age 4 and up!

Kids Against Hunger Global works with missionaries, humanitarian organizations, and other partners around the world to get this food to those who need it most.

But the coronavirus pandemic has changed the way Kids Against Hunger Global is able to do fundraising. Distribution of food packages has slowed due to food packaging limits.

Nevertheless, the organization and its generous volunteers work tirelessly with local food banks, churches, and outreaches to distribute food to the local communities.

Tulsa's chapter of Kids Against Hunger Global was formed in 2006 by Marshall and Sherry Horn. "We fell in love with this vision and what the organization was doing, and we wanted to be a part of it," Sherry says.

Recently, founder Marshall Horn formally resigned as Chairman of the Board and his successor, Letitia Williams, was appointed.

Horn intends to remain very active and supportive of the ministry, and will retain his title of CEO.

The slate of officers, as voted on by the Board of Trustees on July 9, 2020, is as follows:

- Chairperson- Letitia Williams
- President- Jonathan Williams
- Vice President-Dr. Gary Lee
- 2nd Vice President- Jimmy Jones
