IPification and 3Macau partners to enable IP based Passwordless Mobile Authentication

IPification is enabling service providers and corporations to use zero-tap, passwordless mobile authentication for smooth user registration and login process, and varieties of fraud prevention products, including SIM swap protection.

This is the perfect moment for bringing GSMA's Mobile Connect compliant IPification solutions to 3Macau users... enabling users to enjoy highly secured authentication, identity and payment validation."

Wai Ming Ho, Chief Executive Officer of 3Macau

IPification is leveraging a unique set of MNO capabilities like mobile device's IP address, to verify mobile device, SIM, and phone number so to perform the authentication, without the need of the user to carry out any action or even exit the mobile application. This way, IPification dramatically improves mobile user security and elevates the user experience – positively affecting growth and revenue of both, mobile network operators and service providers.

IPification can be used as a single authentication option or as a part of 2FA (two-factor authentication) or MFA (multi-factor authentication) flows and is a vital enabler of continuous authentication.

Stefan Kostic, IPification Chief Executive Officer, said, "I am very proud and thrilled to have 3Macau, in addition to 3 Hong Kong, partnering with IPification. In the fast-paced digital economy where mobile content consumption is growing exponentially, IPification was created to bring a dramatic change in how the mobile user identity is defined and protected as well as with user experience during app registration and login."

Wai Ming Ho, Chief Executive Officer of 3Macau added, "This is the perfect moment for bringing GSMA's Mobile Connect compliant IPification solutions to 3Macau users, as we see the tremendous development of electronic payment and web services in Macau.
