GHAZIABAD, UTTAR PRADESH, INDIA, September 8, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- There are millions of people around the world who spend hours a day playing online games. In the past, playing on the internet was very easy and consisted mainly of classic games like online gambling and the various popular games that are usually played in a real Gaming Experience. Over time they required Japan Dedicated Server plans. If you are a seasoned game developer and have created role-playing games and a website that people can enjoy your games on, you will find it difficult to manage your web traffic as it usually grows and grows every day. For example, if you use a shared web server, all of your hard work will be wasted because not all customers can access your website or play the game themselves.

This just goes to show that internet gaming can be very addicting and those who normally spend a lot of time online are willing to spend money to keep playing their favorite games. This have full access to the server; full access would mean direct root access.

In the Cheap Dedicated Server segment, you have the option of choosing between two alternatives, namely Windows and Linux Dedicated Server.

However, if your website is coded with ASP or Dot-NET technology, then you have to forcibly select Windows Server as these are Microsoft technologies and can only work on the Win web server platform. If your site was developed using HTML or Flash, you should also choose Linux Dedicated Server. The server operating system platform would make a difference in this case.

A Windows-based web server gives you an environment to host your website through IIS Server, usually Windows 2003. You can get to know the IIS 7 version, while Windows 2008 offers a higher version of the IIS server environment. One of the benefits of using a Windows server is that developers get an environment with better development tools.

The FrontPage application is usually preinstalled on Windows Server. This makes updating the website much easier and faster. This allows you to update the website in real-time. The other popular Windows utility is ASP. This is a scripting language offered by Microsoft. It offers the opportunity to develop large, attractive, and dynamic websites.
